The Peacemaking Pastor

A Biblical Guide to Resolving Church Conflict

- by Alfred Poirier
- New pastors graduate from seminary trained in biblical exposition, well-ordered worship, and sound theology—but with little knowledge about the crucial job of conflict resolution. Peacemaking: The healing alternative to conflict in the church. Every pastor faces conflict in the church, and Alfred Poirier has this loving reminder: we can run, but we can't hide. Jesus set the example as the Incarnate Peacemaker, and Scripture clearly calls his servant-pastors to be ministers of reconciliation. So the issue is not whether to be a mediator but what kind of mediator to be. Thoroughly exploring the theology of reconciliation, Poirier adds lessons from personal experience and lists practical steps for effective mediation.

When It's Rush Hour All Day Long Finding Peace in a Hurry-Sick World

- by John W. Tadlock

Among the costs to the mind: Psychologists suggest that a constantly rushed person may develop a psychological addiction to the high adrenalin levels. Among hurry's costs to the body: Forty years ago a cardiologist discovered that his heart disease patients all shared one characteristic-chronic rush. And the cost to the spirit is great as well. A self-diagnosed (but recovering) hurry addict, author John W. Tadlock takes an amusing, straightforward look at the costs of hurry, including a "You might have hurry sickness if" quiz. Tadlock explores praying as listening, reversing the age of instantaneity, and living a well-ordered life to guide
