WHAT ARE THE REQUIREMENTS FOR RETENTION?

After persons become Certified Church Administrators they will be required to demonstrate continued life long learning in the field of church administration in order to retain the designation of CCA. Individuals must meet the retention requirements in order to continue use of the CCA designation. An individual who holds the CCA and no longer works in a local congregation or denominational setting may retain their CCA provided they complete all continuing education requirements. Those who do not meet the requirement will receive a letter of instruction to cease using the designation.

HOW OFTEN DOES RETENTION OCCUR?

Every four years a CCA must demonstrate retention by documenting through the national office compliance with the association's continuing education requirements. These requirements are documented in Retention Requirements (Appendix A).

HOW DO WE TRACK THE RETENTION PROCESS?

A CCA will submit all continuing education experience that qualifies for retention of certification to national. These educational units will be tracked in the national database and available online. Each January all active CCAs will receive printed documentation of their current status of retention which will include deadlines.

HOW DO YOU RECLAIM CERTIFICATION IF YOU LEAVE THE PROFESSION AND THEN RETURN?

A CCA who leaves the field of church administration in good standing and allows the designation to lapse, then returns to the field may submit to The Church Network office the document of re-entry to profession (Appendix C). Upon re-entry the CCA will begin the retention policy based on his or her position in continuing education at the time of departure.

HOW DO YOU REGAIN THE DESIGNATION IF YOU DO NOT RETAIN CERTIFICATION AND LATER DECIDE YOU WANT TO RE-CERTIFY?

Candidates who have allowed certification to lapse and decide they wish to re-certify may do so.

1. If fewer than four years have lapsed since the member has lost the designation, the individual can petition The Church Network and PT&S committee through the national deputy chief executive officer to be reinstated.

This petition should be in the form of an essay not to exceed 3000 words. The essay will outline the reasons for failure to maintain certification as well as detailing what, if any, continuing education courses or workshops the designee has completed during the lapse. It would provide an overview of the designee's growth in the application of church administration to his or her job.

The designee also shall provide proof of completion of the courses or workshops. Upon evaluation and acceptance of the petition by the PT&S committee, a plan to reinstate will be outlined to the member.

In addition, the member's senior minister and a lay officer must submit positive evaluations. (Appendix G & H)

This is the only and final appeal to be reinstated.

2. If more than four years have lapsed or the PT&S committee has rejected an appeal for reinstatement, the individual will be required to re-enter and complete certification as if he or she had never completed certification with the exception of completing a second project.

WHAT IS THE PT&S COMMITTEE'S PROCESS OF EVALUATING A PETITION FOR REINSTATEMENT?

The PT&S committee consists of five to seven members plus ex-officio members, who are center directors and assigned The Church Network staff. These seven appointed members are given a copy of the reinstatement candidate's essay to read. After individual evaluation and reflection the committee members cast a vote and suggest actions to be taken to reinstate the member. If the committee votes unanimously to reinstate, the chair of the committee and deputy CEO will outline the steps and communicate with the designee. If the vote is not unanimous, but a majority of the committee votes yes, the committee will hold a conference call to discuss the candidate's request. After the conference discussion is completed another vote is taken. If the designee receives a 2/3 vote to reinstate, the chair of the committee and deputy CEO will outline the steps and communicate with the designee.

WHAT HAPPENS WHEN YOU RETIRE FOR LOCAL CHURCH WORK?

If a person entered into a retirement recognized by the local congregation or institution for which the applicant last worked, they may retain their CCA status with no additional requirements. It is further understood that retirement means that the applicant is not engaged in any full-time Christian business administration employment.

Individuals who are retiring may want to consider applying for emeritus membership status. See membership information on the web.

WHAT HAPPENS WHEN YOU BECOME AN EMERITUS MEMBER?

Members who hold the designation of CCA at the time of obtaining emeritus status may continue to use the designation with no additional requirements.
